“Brain Free Radical” is included in the John William Gallery program for Palm Beach Modern+Contemporary, FL.

“From his series, The Beautiful Brain, the Jamaican-born artist takes visual improvisation to an orbital level using striking color harmony and curvilinear lines. His acrylic on linen painting plays with the idea of cosmic space as a metaphor for the human body. Fractal patterns that echo brain function move the eye across the picture plane. Brushstrokes of metallic paint glisten against a dense black background. Defined by linear structure, Lewis’ painting reveals a world in which lines (like life itself) bend, weave, and shift, reflecting his investigations in String Theory and cosmological observation.” — Kathrine Page, Project Director
